Notice on impending improvements to NHS Digital

Implementation Date 1 September 2021

Current data extraction that takes place from the GP system (GPES) is going to be replaced with a new system called the General Practice Data for Planning and Research (GPDPR). This is a legal change and cannot be avoided. However, the law allows you to opt out of scheme.

We hold your data in your GP Medical Records. The data is shared with other healthcare professionals for your care and well-being. This protocol is now changing and your data could be shared with other entities to support the health care system for planning and research purposes.

This is a legislative change and as such must be complied with. Further information can be found on the following links:
