

HARLOR ROAD SURGERY

Privacy Policy – Protecting your Privacy

Our website can be accessed by any member of public without giving us any details. The website is aimed to provide mainly NHS services and news of any significant interest that that could affect you.

In order to provide the health services and news, we sometimes have to collect information about yourself. This information collection is necessary to be able to provide you with a useful experience of visiting our website. This statement of privacy explains data collection and use in these situations.

You can visit and read the information on our website without giving us any information about yourself. However, the website is designed to use cookies to be able to provide you with the useful experience. The cookies policy explains you how we use cookies and what cookies are used and their purpose. In brief, the functional cookies are used by default and cannot be turned off as it will impact the integrity and functioning of the web-based platform. The non-functional cookies are optional and you may choose to turn them off. For details of these cookies, kindly refer to the cookies policy.

When you visit our website, you may choose to complete various online forms or you may choose to give us your personal information, for example, if you are interested in registering with the practice, we may ask you to complete an online form. The information that give in the online form will be used by us to contact you and we will take this as your consent to us to able to contact you with a view to provide you with our service.

Our website contains links to other websites of interest, for example, NHS Digital is the national information and technology partner for the health and care system. We have no leverage over the NHS Digital as to how they process their data. Their link is provided on our website and you may wish to click it. Once you click the link to NHS Digital on our website, you will leave our website and you will land yourself on the NHS Digital website, you should be aware that we have no control either on the NHS Digital website or any other websites whose links are provided for your benefit on our website. Harlow Road Surgery and its staff along with the Dr. Noreen Tariq and any professionals involved accept no responsibility for the privacy of protection of your data which you provide whilst visiting these websites.

We protect the data within our surgery and do not disclose your data to any-one except where it is required by law, other regulation or you consented for such a disclosure.